► Jupem is updating land, maritime boundaries

DEPUTY Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr Wan Azizah Wan Ismail said the Department of Survey and Mapping Malaysia (Jupem) is in the process of updating the land boundaries between states, and part of it is completed. She said after the completion of the process for land boundaries, the markings of maritime boundaries would be carried out. "The maritime boundaries are important because there are many landfill projects such as in Johor, Melaka and Penang which will impact on the state and national boundaries," she told a media conference after chairing a National Land Council meeting in Parliament yesterday. Dr Wan Azizah said the meeting also discussed a proposal on using the spatium concept for the purpose of town development. Spatium is a concept to create overlapping development on existing developments and the creation of layered ownerships with volume lots below and above the ground, aimed at meeting the increasing demand for land. The meeting also discussed a proposal paper on the amendment of the Land Acquisition Act 1960 aimed at improving the process of land acquisitions including in terms of compensation. — Bernama
